

Asst. Prof.

Aysun GARGACI KINAY

(Aquaculture Engineer - Chef / Member of the Association)

She completed his undergraduate studies at Ondokuz Mayıs University, Faculty of Fisheries, and his graduate and doctorate degrees at Sinop University, Institute of Science and Technology.

She worked on the production and preservation of different and new food products. She is a graduate of EKS Culinary Arts Academy and diversified his academic studies in the field of gastronomy. She is still working as an assistant professor lecturer at Sinop University, School of Tourism and Hotel Management, Department of Gastronomy and Culinary Arts. In addition to working on product and waste evaluation with a sustainable environmental principle, she supports the nutritional and sheltering needs of many living things together with the association for the protection and survival of stray animals. She carries out his studies at the Black Sea Environment and Marine Research Association (BSEMAR) in order to contribute to the ecosystem of the Black Sea Region, to get to know its products, to carry out necessary R&D studies and to emphasize the importance of respect for living life.

Please click for detailed information about her academic life, publications and projects.

e-mail

aysun.gargaci@bsemar.com